Chris,

This just came in on my e-mail. I have a bit more information coming in. I will call you when I have a couple of more subject matter experts in my office.

Fearing a gag order on climate science I willfully sent out a series of tweets on the subject.

I changed the password a few months back but when setting up a Twitter account for my own personal use discovered the cookies had left me logged into the Badlands account on the Hootsuite autoscheduler.

I loaded the tweets into Hootsuite. And proceeded to logout. I swear that I no longer have the login information.

I apologize to Ed Welsh.
I accept full responsibility for my actions.
