Badlands is my favorite national park. I have visited it more than 30 times, camping there more than 10 times. I love it. I have a poster of it in my office. I also voted for Donald Trump for President. I never ignored an order from President Obama. But, evidently someone there thinks they are above the law and the will of the American people expressed in this last election. Now what am I to do. The poster is in my office, but somehow it has lost its appeal to me. Look. The climate changes. We know that. It is science. But, climate change has been politicized. It does not need to be. The computer models that predict doomsday are just conjectures. They are not science. Other models could predict just the opposite. Input. Output. Get over it. Unnecessary. You have an order. You are getting a paycheck. A taxpayer funded paycheck. Obey the order. And stop the nonsense. Let me love Badlands without the drama. Thank you.
